What exactly is a Recovery Coach?

A Recovery Coach is anyone interested in transmitting recovery by becoming a personal mentor for individuals seeking recovery from substance abuse, or those in early recovery who may need assistance removing the barriers and obstacles they may encounter in the recovery process.

Through the RCA, individuals will learn the roles associated with recovery coaching: role model and mentor, motivator and cheerleader, ally and confidante, problem solver, truth teller, advocate, community organizer, lifestyle consultant, friend, companion and equal. Participants also learn the importance of what a Recovery Coach is not: a sponsor, counselor, doctor or priest.

Meet The Instructors

Palm Partners is offering the Connecticut Community Addiction Recovery (CCAR) sponsored program for a second consecutive year. Dr. Richard Davila is part of the training team, this year as primary instructor. An innovative, successful educator, currently Campus Director of Springfield College's Tampa Bay campus, Rick brings over 40 years field experience to the classroom. In August, 2012 he and Jim Wuelfing, the program's creator, successfully trained the first group of Florida professionals in this innovative approach for helping those recovering from addictive disorders.
